D&A

Dutch Design is evident throughout Dutch Design Hotel Artemis, from the architecture of the building and the restaurant to different design furniture in the lobby as well as the hotel rooms.

The D&A; Design & ARTEMIS exhibition is an unique concept where each four months the ground floor of the hotel is changed to a surprisingly different setting. Each exhibition has its own theme. Dutch Design Hotel Artemis provides a platform for both beginning and established artists and designers to show their work to an all-round public. Beside the art, guests can enjoy Food & Drink Design in restaurant 'De Stijl'.

DUDOK

This spacious and light meeting room is named after the Dutch architect Willem Marinus Dudok. His best known work is the design of the Hilversum Town Hall. The Dudok meeting room can be combined with the restaurant or divided into two smaller meeting rooms, ideal for private dinners or other events. In the summer months the meetings rooms can be opened up to the terrace.

GROUND FLOOR

RIETVELD

The Rietveld meeting room is a large multi-functional room which can be divided up into a further four meeting rooms. The meeting room is named after Gerrit Rietveld, famous for his designs in both furniture and architecture. In 1919 he was part of the 'Stijl' movement; this was a group of artists, writers and architects who brought in a radical new influence. The independent aspects, with right angles and sharp corners combined well with cubism and gave the 'Stijl' its characteristic geometrical identity. The Restaurant-Bar 'De Stijl' is located on the ground floor.
